Defeating Imposter Syndrome

INTRO

There is a phenomenon called Imposter Syndrome that is very common among Professionals, Executives, Business Owners, and Students. The symptoms of Imposter Syndrome are not always easy to detect, however, their impact can greatly affect your confidence, performance, and stress.

By overcoming Imposter Syndrome, you will experience greater resilience, increased confidence, better decision-making, more effective leadership, and much less stress. Moreover, you will go from “playing it small” to embracing greater challenges and bigger opportunities.

Learning how to defeat Imposter Syndrome has enabled our speaker to become a better attorney, a better speaker, a more productive business owner, and much less stressed inside and outside of the courtroom. Please help me welcome Lawrence Eichen whose presentation today is called:
